Mount Bromo (2,329 meters / 7,641 ft) is an active volcano, a part of Bromo Tengger Semeru National Park in East Java, Indonesia. The name of Bromo derived from Javanese pronunciation of Brahma, the Hindu creator god. Mount Bromo sits in the middle of vast plain called the Sea of Sand, the protected nature reserve since 1919. The typical way to visit Mount Bromo is from the nearby mountain of Cemoro Lawang then we need to take an organized jeep tour by local people which includes a stop at the viewpoint of Mount Penanjakan (2,270 meters) to see the sunrise.
